PHASES OF THE PROGRAM

PHASE 1/ Applicants need to prepare a 3 months Action Plan to be implemented before the U.S. trip focusing on community organizing field experience in a marginalized or rural community. This experience needs to be summarized in a report before arriving to the U.S., so that the U.S. host organizations can design part of the fellowship program for the European participant based on the different field experience. A European alumni mentor will also work with spring 2020 fellows during pre-departure activities. Each fellow will participate in an on-line leadership training before, during and after the U.S. travel.

PHASE 2/ The second phase is the 6-weeks U.S. trip which includes 4-week internship at an American organization, about one week joint activity with all participants before the internship and a peer-to-peer joint learning activity after the internship. The internship experience will be tailored to the delegation members' background and interest. The joint program before and after the internship will feature workshops, group discussions, and other opportunities for interaction. Before the end of the internship - based on new ideas gained in the U.S.- participants will prepare an Individual Project Plan that they will implement within 6-9 months after returning to their home country.

In the U.S. fellows will do presentations at professional and community events, and participate in volunteer service activity. The joint program will be organized in Toledo (Ohio), Chicago (Illinois), and Washington (D.C.), but internship placement may include other communities across the U.S.

The Professional Fellows Congress is a three-day enrichment program that will be also included in the itinerary. Professional Fellows from different countries around the world will have an opportunity to meet with government leaders and other program alumni and share experience at the end of their visit in Washington, D.C.

PHASE 3/ The 3rd phase of the project will start when participants return to their home country where they will work on the implementation of new ideas and continue their previous projects or start another one that they designed with their U.S. mentor during their U.S. visit. Participants will be required to help others with their new experience after their return, cooperate closely with the WSOS/GLC partners in their country.

PHASE 4/ As part of the exchange U.S. mentors who worked with the fellows in the U.S. will travel for about 2 weeks to Europe and will spend about one week in each of the country of their fellows to participate in seminars, workshops, visit fellows' organizations, and to provide mentoring. Applicants are encouraged to cooperate with GLC in-country directors and partners in the preparation of these events, participate in the workshops with presentations about the experience acquired during their U.S. fellowship, and encourage others to join in and benefit from this experience. European participants will be actively involved in the implementation of the U.S. mentors' visit to their fellow's organization as well as assist in joint training with their U.S. mentors and other alumni.

PHASE 5/ Fellows will be also part of the alumni network in their country and will participate in various alumni activities in their own country and in other countries in Europe.

PHASE 6/ Alumni will provide regular updates to Country Directors as well as the GLC Project Manager in the U.S. on how the new ideas were implemented in their organizations and what impact this program made. Alumni success stories will be published before the end of the grant period and each fellow is expected to contribute with an organizing story within 6-9 months after their return.

SELECTION PROCESS

Participants will be selected through a competitive merit-based process. We would like to invite applicants (between age 25-40) who are creative and have innovative ideas, have accomplishments in solving issues in marginalized or rural communities and who can make a large impact by implementing new ideas and changes. Participants need to display evidence of good organizational and management skills; they should be active members of their local community, interested in long-term international cooperation, have good communication and presentation skills, and be receptive to modern technology. Successful candidates should be mid-level emerging civil society professionals with experience and current employment related to the designated project area. Selected participants will be encouraged in developing connections not only between their countries and the U.S. and other European countries but also within their own country.

All selected participants must be highly proficient in written and oral English, self-directed, able to work effectively in a cross-cultural setting, and have demonstrated leadership abilities. The WSOS/GLC Project Manager from the U.S. will contact the applicants by e-mail during the selection process and also during the preparation for the visit to the United States.
